Kid Footballers Banqueted

Recognition Is Given Boys By Grown-ups

Youthful members of the Cub football squad, the Browns and the Wolverines, some of them scarcely big enough to reach the top of their tables, were honored Monday night at a banquet in the American Legion Hall. More than 120 were seated at the tables.

The banquet -- sponsored by so many organizations and individuals that it would be difficult to round them all up -- was a way of saying "good work, boys, on your season, keep plugging away and maybe someday we'll see you playing for WHS."

Bob Minshall, master-of-ceremonies, got away from any long-winded speeches by calling on the distinguished guests with the joking admonition:

"Limit your speeches to one sentence without punctuation."

Short talks were given by Stephen Brown, superintendent of schools; Arthur Wohlers, principal of WHS; Fred Pierson, head football coach at WHS and Homer Bireley one of the sponsors.

Ronald Guinn, Cub football coach, outlined the achievements of the Cub team and declared:

"I can't say in words how much we appreciate this wonderful banquet."

American Consul To Leave Manchuria

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(P)—Angus Ward reported today he and his American consulate staff have arranged to leave Mukden at 3:45 A. M. Wednesday (2:45 P. M. EST today).

About 23 members of the consulate staff and their dependents expelled with Ward by the communists, are expected to board a train for the 700-mile trip to the north China port of Tientsin.

Ward's latest report was telephoned to U. S. Consul General O. Edmund Clubb in Peiping and relayed to the state department.

The group of 13 American officials and their families were under communist orders to quit the Manchurian Capital by 7 P. M. EST tonight (8 A. M. Wednesday Mukden time). All have been virtual prisoners for more than a year. Ward and four of his aides were recently jailed for a month.

U. S. army circles in Tokyo reported that a partially garbled message from Ward yesterday said he himself did not know whether he would leave Mukden last night or today. Communication lines to Mukden are roundabout and undependable, and there were no details.

Illegally purchased the State Grange home.
Fichter was not present at last night's meeting.

Fichter lost out as National Grange chaplain at the National Grange convention in Sacramento, Calif., about two weeks ago.

Moreland said at that time that 50 charges previously filed against him had been dropped because the dissident group felt it would be difficult to oust Fichter as long as he held a national office.

When the news was received that Fichter had lost out as National Grange chaplain, the "oust-Fichter" group became active again (Please turn to Page Two)

Radar Secrets Sent Russia Too, Jordan Charges

New Sensations Injected Into Congress Probe

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(P)—Former Air Force Major George Racey Jordan told today of ripping secret radar equipment out of our planes bound for Russia in the war but said a fifth with the same material reached the Soviet Union.

Jordan told a new conference he snatched the equipment from four planes at the Great Falls, Mont., air base. But another plane made it to Russia from Washington without stopping at Great Falls and balked him, he added.

The former air force officer touched off a new investigation of secret material allegedly obtained by the Soviets in a broadcast last Friday.

He charged that the Soviets obtained uranium products in the war and repeated the accusation before a congressional committee yesterday. Uranium is used in making atomic bombs.

Jordan was an expediting officer for lend-lease supplies to Russia at the Great Falls base in the war. He told the news conference he found the radar equipment, which he never had seen before, in a C-47 transport destined for the Russians.

Jordan said he telephoned his superior officer, a Colonel Gitzinger, at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio and asked him about the equipment.

"Good God," Jordan quoted Gitzinger as replying, "Don't tell me they got radar equipment. Rip it out."

The former officer said he complied. Three other planes arrived en route to Russia with the same equipment, he said, adding in each case "I ripped out the radar."

"General Arnold (Gen. H. H. Arnold, then chief of the army air force) would just as soon have given away his right arm as that radar," Jordan declared.

PROBE IN CAPITAL
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(P)—The House un-American Activities Committee eyed Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace and many others today in a suddenly revived hunt for people who pushed wartime uranium shipments to Russia.

Wallace commented that a statement that he was involved in false and a part of "an unremitting effort to tarnish the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Chairman Wood (D-GA) promised there "isn't going to be any avenue left untouched" as the House committee digs into the story that persons in high places helped get uranium and atomic information.

For the sake of the American people, Wood told reporters, "the story must either be corroborated or disproved."

Much of it is old, particularly the part about several shipments of uranium compounds to Russia back in 1943, by way of Great Falls, Mont., and the Alaskan air route.

But now big names are being brought into it:
Wallace, who was fired from the cabinet by President Truman for siding too much with Russia on International Policy and Harry L. Hopkins, the late intimate and adviser of President Roosevelt.

And tomorrow Wood's committee will question Gen. Leslie Groves, retired, who ran the wartime atom bomb project. Committee officials said there may be 40 or 50 additional witnesses.

But there is no indication yet when Wallace might be called.

Broadcaster Fulton Lewis, Jr., said last night that it was Wallace who "ordered the atomic materials sent to Russia" over Groves' objections.

War Preparations in Europe!

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 6—(P)—The West German press accused the western powers today of trying to revive German militarism with a "cannon fodder" army.

The newspapers claimed the west want an army of German "mercenaries" as a bulwark against the Russians.

But nobody has asked the Germans whether they want an army, the newspapers said, contending that the German people are overwhelmingly opposed to German rearmament.

Although western Allied officials have announced publicly there are no present plans for rebuilding a German army, persistent reports have circulated that western military leaders favor such a step.

Yesterday a spokesman for West German Chancellor (premier) Konrad Adenauer said the Bonn government would agree under certain circumstances to form an army. But the spokesman declared the West German Republic was not taking the initiative in proposing such a military move.

The spokesman said Adenauer was "fundamentally" against German rearmament because she needs her whole power for civilian reconstruction. He added that if the western Allies insisted, however, Western Germany would be willing to raise an army-equipped by the United States--to serve as part of a European army under a combined European command.

RUSSIAN PREPAREDNESS

BERLIN, Dec. 6—(P)—The British-licensed newspaper Sozialdemokrat said today an automobile plant at Chemnitz in eastern Germany has been ordered 'to produce tanks for the Communist-proposed 360,000-man east German army.

The paper said the plant has been assigned a quota of 10 tanks a month.

Job Situation Better, Claim

Up-Trend Started Before Holiday Rush

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(P)—The job situation appeared to be looking up in November--even before the lift that the Christmas sales season usually gives to employment.

New figures from the census bureau were welcomed by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer as showing that "the job picture in November was perhaps more favorable than at any previous time this year."

The figures, released by Sawyer late yesterday, showed in brief: 60,954,000 Americans, counting 1,436,000 in the armed forces, had jobs good for one hour a week or more in November, even if some of them weren't actually working because of illness, strikes, vacation, etc.

The 59,519,000 jobs in November represented a gain of 517,000 over October, although the total was 375,000 below November 1948, when the boom was at its peak.

Furthermore, non-farm employment, up 350,000 in November to a 51,540,000 total, was "back to the 1949 high recorded in the late summer months," the census bureau said. It added that November "recovered the losses" caused by the October steel and coal strikes.

Unemployment dropped 167,000 in November to a total of 3,409,000 although it was fairly near double the 1,831,000 total of boomtime November, 1948.

The reason that the expanding job opportunities didn't put a much bigger crimp in unemployment--said the bureau, was that people turning out to hunt seasonal work swelled the figures for joblessness.

The farm picture gave an unusual boost to the November employment total by showing a 168,000 climb in November, usually a month when farm work is declining.

The cause: good weather in many areas permitted completion of harvesting operations which had been delayed in October by heavy rains.

Gen. Eisenhower Under Attack For Views On Way of Living

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(P)—Columbia University's student newspaper has opened up with some caustic comments about the university's president, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In an editorial yesterday, "the Columbia Daily Spectator" leveled its main fire at a speech Eisenhower made last week before the St. Andrew's Society at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"If the speech was a trial balloon," the newspaper said, "we think public reaction will soon flatten it."

The general, in the speech, said he thought too much emphasis was being placed on personal security at the expense of individual liberty. He was quoted as saying that perhaps people wanted champagne when they should have "hot dogs and beer."

The student editorial commented: "Being content with beer and hot dogs has never been part of the American tradition we know. The one we know assures any citizen that he may some day eat champagne and caviar, and in the White House at that. We don't know, of course, but we are willing to bet beer and hot dogs weren't on the menu at the Waldorf-Astoria last Wednesday night, either."

Husband Not True To Her Shirley Says--and Gets Divorce

SHIRLEY TEMPLE signs divorce papers with attorneys George Stahlman (standing) and Clore Warner (seated) witnessing.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6—(P)—Shirley Temple won a divorce

by testifying that John Agar drank too much, played around with other women and almost drove her to suicide. But the handsome actor declines to discuss the case publicly.

The famous child star, now 21, won an interlocutory decree yesterday. It becomes final in a year.

The 28-year-old former air force sergeant did not contest the divorce. Reached backstage at a Buffalo, N. Y., theater where he is appearing in a show, Agar said last night:

"As usual, there are two sides to a controversy. Shirley's testimony, as reported to me, reflects incorrectly our real differences. There is much I might have said and might say now. However, as I see it, no constructive purpose could be served by recriminations or airing our respective sides in public."

The court ordered Agar to pay $100 a month support for their child, Linda Susan, 22 months old, and awarded her custody to the actress. Under a settlement, Agar agreed to invest his half of community property in a trust fund for their child.

The question was raised during testimony of Mrs. Mary F. McClelland, owner of the Albany Ohio Gas Co. which buys from Ohio Fuel and resells it to its own customers.

Simpson said there are other reasons too why Mrs. McClelland should not reply to such questions. He said she had no documentary evidence with her to support her testimony and that she might "have an interest in saying 'yes'."

Also, he added, it was improper to ask her the question because similar inquiries had not been made of officials of other gas companies which buy from Ohio Fuel.

Murdoch also answered specific questions put to him by the YBM members.

Man Who KO'd Woman Pleads Self-Defense

TOLEDO, Dec. 6—(P)—Harry Marinski awaited sentence today on a common pleas court conviction that he knocked his mother-in-law unconscious during a family argument.

Marinski, who weighs 180 pounds, told Judge John M. McCabe at a hearing:

"Your honor, it was self-defense."

The mother-in-law, Mrs. Hazel Tipping, weighs 100 pounds.

New State Law Possibility Is Studied by YBM

Off-Street Plans In Other Cities Used as Guide

The Young Businessmen's Committee is continuing its investigation of the parking problem in Washington C. H.

At their December meeting Monday night, at the Chamber of Commerce, the YBM members heard the first report from a committee investigating the possibility of off-street parking for the city.

Their action to date, as they brought out in their report, has consisted of (1) investigating the new state law allowing municipalities to appropriate property (by eminent domain, if necessary) for off-street parking and (2) writing to several other communities for a description of their off-street parking facilities.

As to the law, Victor Smith, chairman of the committee, reported, it simply allows city governments to either buy or lease property for the purpose of running off-street parking facilities at a profit.

Action Up To Council

In the past, cities have been restricted in that the law did not definitely provide that such parking facilities could be run on a profit basis.

Smith said the city council would be the body here that could use the law.

In the report of the committee, Smith also read the letters from other Ohio communities that have off-street parking facilities.

The Chamber of Commerce of Wapakoneta, (population 5,225 at the last census) wrote enthusiastically of their four-block long off-street lot that could handle 750 to 1000 cars. The Ashland (approx. 12,000 at the last census) Chamber of Commerce said its off-street parking was provided for by several lots, one-third of which were owned by the city, the rest of which were leased from adjoining business establishments.

All of these lots, according to the letters, were convenient to the business district.

After Smith explained the new law and read the letters, the YBM members then discussed what further action they wanted to take.

Conclusion: Need Here

It was agreed that off-street parking facilities could well be used in Washington C. H., but that suitable lots would have to be found.

These, they pointed out, would have to be located within one block on either side of Court Street.

From their discussion, the YBM agreed that the lot would probably have to be run on a profit basis, with the use of parking meters as a possible means of revenue.

Chairman Smith then summarized the steps that the parking committee would take until the January meeting.

These were: (1) looking up possible sites for lots in Washington C. H. (2) taking trips to cities of similar size with off-street parking to get first hand information on the operation of the lots (3) drawing up a definite recommendation to the city council for approval by the YBM first.

Talk On Income Taxes

Smith also announced that the committee now consisted of Robert Wise, Robert Brubaker, Richard Patton, James Hutton and Farrell V. Smith.

For their guest speaker of the evening, the YBM had Donald Murdoch, certified public accountant, who revealed some of the workings of income and capital gain taxation.

In his talk, he emphasized that full acquaintance with deductions allowed can save the tax payer many dollars. He pointed out that the government encourages the tax payer to take advantage of the full number of deductions he is entitled to.

Murdoch also answered specific questions put to him by the YBM members.

Anti-Fichter Group Here in Ouster Move

The anti-Fichter movement among Grangers in Fayette County today was gathering momentum. But, just how much remained uncertain.

Five of the leaders of the movement here today are back home building up their strategy and laying plans to join other groups over the state for pressing charges they have said they hope will boot Joseph W. Fichter, the Ohio Grange master, out of office.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sollars, Mrs. Loren Morter and Mr. and Mrs. Loren B. Johnson attended a meeting in Jacksontown (near Newark) in Licking County Monday night. There they met with more than 200 Grangers from 11 counties with the same purpose -- to depose Fichter.

The Fayette County group was headed by Sollars, who is listed as the complainant. Sam Marting and Harold Hewitt are the endorser.

Sollars said he was not sure just how many Grangers in Fayette County had joined the movement. He added, however, that "there are a good many." The organization admittedly is loosely knit and the meetings have been more or less informal.

Sollars said the charges against Fichter by the Fayette County group have been "boiled down to 17." In general, they charge misconduct in office.

Sollars said he still has the prepared charges and will file them with the national committee "at the opportune time."

Something may be done when the state Grange holds its 77th annual meeting in Columbus on Dec. 13-15.

Meanwhile, Sollars said the group here would mark time until other anti-Fichter committees in the state decided on coordinated action.

The 17 charges against Fichter were read at the Jacksontown meeting Monday night. Apparently they coincide with those drafted by the group here.

Wade Moreland, Licking County leader of the Grange faction seeking Fichter's ouster, said he signed 14 of the accusations. The others were signed by representatives of Grange units in nearby counties. All were to be sent to the National Grange executive committee in Washington.

Attorney E. Clark Morrow, of Newark, representing the dissident group, read the charges. Among other things, they allege that Fichter:

Failed to keep Ohio Grange books in a manner that they could be audited and that the auditor was unable to balance them;

Dispersed State Grange funds by moving State Grange headquarters from a Columbus building which rented for $21,000 yearly to a building in Columbus which cost $45,000 to purchase and remodel;

Illegally purchased the State Grange home;

Fichter was not present at last night's meeting.

Fichter lost out as National Grange chaplain at the National Grange convention in Sacramento, Calif., about two weeks ago.

Moreland said at that time that 50 charges previously filed against him had been dropped because the dissident group felt it would be difficult to oust Fichter as long as he held a national office.

When the news was received that Fichter had lost out as National Grange chaplain, the "oust-Fichter" group became active again (Please turn to Page Two)

The big bell which is part of the Fayette County Court House, has been heard for a distance of eight miles or more, which is pretty good range for the strike of a clock.

I had known many persons who have heard the bell for a distance of three to five miles, but now along comes Strawder Fletcher local painter who said that years ago when he resided on the Charles Coffey farm on the Leesburg Road some eight miles southwest of Washington C. H., he frequently heard the clock striking in the early morning hours of five or six.

"I used to set my watch by hearing the town clock strike eight miles away," Strawder said.

The Nation Today

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(P)—To find various ways of making life long and better and short and awful, the government is spending almost $1½ billion this year on scientific research.

The work ranges all the way from work on cancer and heart and synthetic rubber to atomic energy for better bombs and weapons for the army, navy and air force.

The military forces are getting more than half the money being spent on research.

In a talk to a group of scientists John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, told some of the story. He said:

"The importance of science to our national life has been dramatized for all Americans by the atom bomb and tremendous potentialities of atomic power, but on a thousand less publicized fronts the researcher and the technician are working together in the search for truth....

"As the president said...the knowledge that we now have is but a fraction of the knowledge that we must get, whether for peaceful purposes or national defense."

The government's budget for scientific research this year totals $1,380,000,000. It breaks down this way, with a brief explanation for each field:

Atomic energy $320,000,000 this includes benefits to medicine and other fields of life, besides the bomb.

Federal Security Administration $42,000,000...this goes into research for public health, including cancer, heart disease, infantile paralysis.

General services administration, $31,000,000...this includes building laboratories for other agencies.

National advisory committee on aviation, $70,000,000...this committee is made up of civilians and military men. Almost all of this work is being done in government laboratories.

Tennessee Valley authority $24,000,000...this includes development of fertilizer.

Agriculture department, $55,000,000...this goes into government experiment stations all over the country, livestock, crops.

Commerce department, $19,000,000...this includes the national bureau of standards and the weather bureau, better air navigation systems.

National defense, $750,000,000...this includes research on weapons by army, navy, air force.

Interior department, $46,000,000...this includes geological surveys in search for minerals.

All others (including maritime commission, state department, reconstruction finance corporation, veterans administration), $23,000,000...this ranges from development of cultural relations with other countries, particularly Latin America, to synthetic rubber and the making of artificial limbs for veterans.

About $425,000,000 of the money is being spent in non-government laboratories, going to universities and industry for various purposes. Federal research in colleges and universities is costing about $100,000,000.

Said Steelman: "Federal research

Farmers Invest In Livestock

Uncertain Future Is No Deterrent

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(P)—Much is heard these days about investors' being fearful of taking financial risks. Economic conditions, it is said, are too uncertain. There is one place in America where there's no such timidity. That's down on the farm.

The farmer is going right ahead expanding one of the most hazardous of all enterprises—the production and feeding of livestock for meat. This is a business in which a drop of three or four cents a pound in cattle price can bring on bankruptcy.

Yet, in face of a general decline in farm prices, a gradual reduction in national income, and some forecasts of recessions and depressions, the farmer is going right ahead building up beef cattle herds, producing more hogs and maintaining a high level of milk production.

Regardless of whether all this results in profit or loss for the farmer, it promises larger supplies of animal products for the consumer.

Hypothetical Case
To get an idea of the risky character of livestock farming, let's take the case of a hypothetical cattle feeder in the midwest corn belt.

For the most part, such feeders go into the market and buy thin cattle and place them on a heavy ration of corn, other grains and forage to fatten them to slaughter weights. This fattening process takes from a few months to a year or longer, depending on the weights and quality to which the feeder desires to bring the animals.

At current prices a feeder would pay about 20 cents a pound for such animals. A herd of 100 head averaging 500 pounds would cost $10,000.

When the feeder buys cattle funds constitute a substantial portion of the research budget in many institutions often averaging well over 50 per cent of their entire research budget.

The rest of the $425,000,000 going spent in industrial laboratories...or about $325,000,000—is being spent in industrial laboratories. So industry is benefited by the program.

In 1929 the total private and governmental spending on research was only about $166,000,000.

WALLPAPER WINDOW SHADES PAINT AT THE BARGAIN STORE

Room and Board

By Gene Ahern

he has no assurance what the price will be when he gets them ready for the slaughter market. Suppose he feeds them enough to increase the weight to 600 pounds. The total tonnage would be 60,000 pounds or 10,000 more than when he bought them.

The feeder would make a little money if he were able to sell the cattle for more than 20 cents a pound. It would take the revenue from the increased weight to cover cost of his feed, labor, and other outlays.

But suppose prices dropped four cents a pound. A price of 16 cents a pound on 60,000 pounds of cattle would bring only $9,600, or $400 short of the investment.

Big Rocket Range in Australia Behind Strict 'Hush' Curtain

By BARBARA GORMLY
SYDNEY, Dec. 6—(P)—The most hush-hush spot in Australia is in the middle of a big red stony desert.

The British Empire's long range weapons establishment at Woomera, 250 miles north west of Adelaide, is known generally as the "Rocket Range."

It's shrouded in secrecy. The Australian public knows they test rockets out there, but that is all.

Recently Australian newsmen were taken on a tour, only the second since construction began three years ago. They were allowed to stay overnight this time.

There would be nothing to cover feed, labor and other costs.

Last visit they were shooed out before nightfall. During the whole tour, security officers walked at their elbows.

Newsmen Learn Little
The newsmen saw rockets—small ones—being tested. They looked over the model village for workers. They talked with range scientists and engineers. They were not much wiser when they left.

One writer from the Melbourne Argus said that when he returned to Melbourne he was treated as the man from the rocket range, with as much awe as if he had been the man from the moon.

That's a good example of how Australians view this project. Actually the range is still in its infancy. The present length has not been announced, but eventually it will stretch 1,200 miles across the desert center of Australia to the northwest coast. From there it will be extended, if required, another 1,500 miles across the Indian Ocean toward Christmas Island.

Weapons now being tested are small.

Biggest rocket the newsmen saw fired was a three-inch one. The British army was using a similar type six years ago.

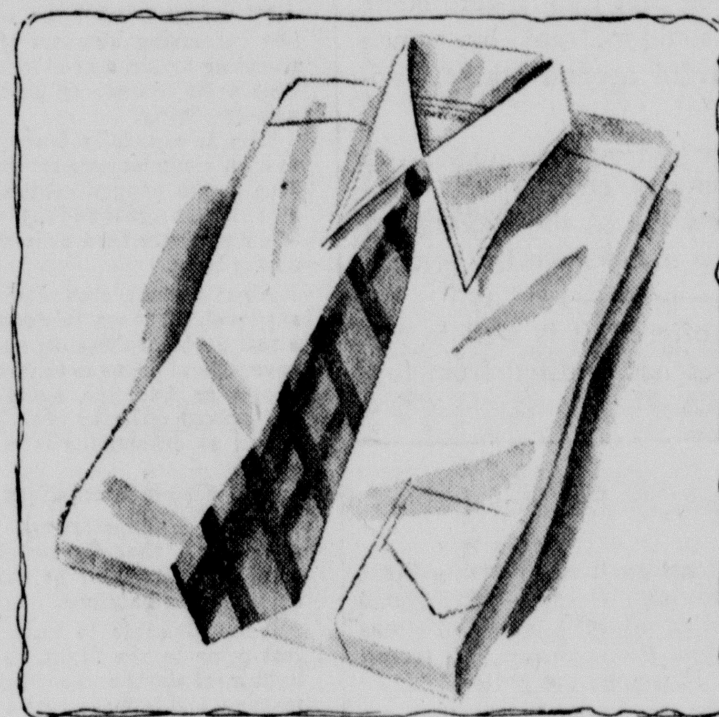

Range engineers say other test missiles have been fired but are still on the "secret list".

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends ...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news. The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

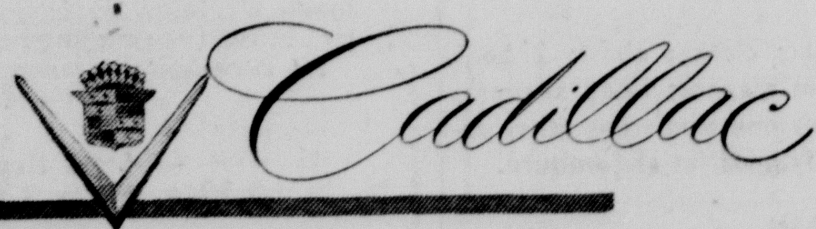

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the mere recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for the most hesitant buyer. Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are right other makes of cars which actually have certain models that are priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac. There is long life, for example. Four Cadillacs, of the 1942 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently concluded by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car. All four were then sold into private service—and are still going strong!

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy.

And, finally, there are the dependability records—which prove that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty! Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

Re-Examination of Strikes Is Needed

Reaction to the recent steel and coal strikes on the part of some workers and the public in general must have caused the most ardent believers in strikes to have moments of doubt as to the wisdom of industry-wide strikes. In the method used to end the steel strike, and in the step taken by John L. Lewis to abort a new coal strike, hints may be found that industry-wide bargaining is being re-examined.

The United Mine Workers policy resolution left the way clear for individual operators to work out agreements with their own miners. It remains to be learned, after contracts are finally made, to what extent the union head will require uniformity in these agreements. But the resolution seemed to leave room for variations. The steel contracts, as worked out company by company, had certain uniform elements but also had some variations on the subject which was the nub of the strike cause, the plan for financing pensions.

Industry-wide bargaining does not necessarily mean that one contract covers a whole industry. Contracts may be made company by company, but if either management or labor insists on uniform contract provisions throughout an industry, then bargaining is in fact industry-wide. There has been much of such bargaining achieved, and it has seemed to be the goal of most of the larger, more powerful unions.

Both owners and workers might have varying opinions about the results of industry-wide bargaining. It works to the advantage of some, to the disadvantage of others. But in one respect it seems to offer a uniform disadvantage; it seems to make contract disputes longer and harder to settle. If that be true, the best course for all concerned, including the public, might be found in more flexible bargaining plans.

Congressional Absentees

Some people have an old-fashioned idea that a congressman or a senator is elected to stay in Washington and decide on legislation. It is also a child's duty to go to school, though sometimes enforcement is needed to make him do it. Congress, having no truant officer, does as it pleases.

At almost any time in a session of Congress there are a few absentees, and that is to be expected. But in an overlong session such as that recently ended there are many periods of token sessions, when not enough legislators are present to transact business, and there is a high number of habitual absentees—senators and representatives who simply pack up and go off to attend to other affairs.

Defenders of absentees sometimes explain that they are "paired". This means that there is a standing arrangement with a colleague on the other side of the party fence whereby neither votes during the other's absence. Senators and representatives have more to do than vote by party lines, however. They were elected to be useful in shaping legislation. It is hard to see how their ideas can be effective when they are not in their places while legislation is being shaped.

We're all in favor of that new idea running around that future cars should come with built-in parking meters and built-in parking space. But we are not in favor of the other suggestion that they should come equipped with shoulder-straps by which they could be carried around while shopping.

The long-awaited day has arrived: anybody can get a new car at the established price. But now how many have the price?

When advice is offered, it is well to observe how the giver has profited from following it.

What To Do With Christmas Ties

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — (AP) — There ought to be a society to prevent the presentation of neckties as Christmas gifts.

But there isn't, so again this year some 50,000,000 or more worthless American males will be showered with an unwelcome collection of tonsil muffers.

Women insist on giving men ties, and they pick them on one of two principles:

1. As if they were buying drapes, or
2. As if they were selecting a lining for their husband's coffin.

What can be done about this annual misery?

Well, the cowardly way out is to slink about like a self-conscious version of a marriage between a rainbow and the northern lights.

But there are bolder ways out for men who still pride themselves on rugged individualism. A simply exit for the problem is merely to stuff the ties down the nearest incinerator. Or bribe the janitor to take them.

These techniques, however, show little imagination. A little survey I made disclosed several more original methods of dealing with this plague.

"I am saving mine up until I have enough to hang Santa Claus," one angry gentleman reported.

Another man said he had found it easy to cure his wife of giving him neckties.

"I just started wearing them with my tuxedo," he said. "She didn't talk to me for a week (is that bad?) but she hasn't given me a tie since."

A bachelor of my acquaintance, on the other hand, stoutly insists he wouldn't give up the pleasure of Christmas neckties for anything.

"I use the drab ones to line my closets," he said, "and I frame the bright ones and hang them up as pictures. You should see them—nudes, landscapes, hunting scenes. You have no idea what fine art is put on those ties."

Another fellow eaves them into skipping ropes for his daughters. One father I know saves the cheaper ties and uses them to dye eggs for his kids at Easter. And a television fan suggested:

"I get so tired of seeing those flickering tweed herringbone lines on my set I hang Christmas ties in front of my TV screen just to change the pattern."

An older friend said that for four years he found the most satisfactory system for getting rid of unwanted ties was to leave them with the neighborhood fish market.

"Then my wife came home with a flounder wrapped in a tie she had given me the week before," he lamented. "I don't know what to do this year."

With me it is not trouble at all anymore, for a long time I had difficulty in jettisoning old razor blades. Then I let on the happy idea of simply dropping them in an envelope and addressing it to the company that made them. This worked fine—sometimes I even got a new blade back.

But now, whenever anyone gives me a Christmas necktie, I kill two birds at one stone. I simply send him a used razor blade by return mail—with a suggestion that he may find it of some use.

And whether he cuts his throat with it or not—well, at least he won't send me any more Christmas neckties.

Complete U. S. Debacle in China

By George E. Sokolsky

It is clearly the decision of the Truman administration to maintain peace at any cost. This policy enjoys wide support in the United States and is the consequence and aftermath, first, of a war in which the United States made the greatest sacrifice in her history and to no purpose or avail; secondly, of a propaganda conducted under government auspices to make Soviet Russia, which had been regarded as a wicked and evil government, popular with the American people. In pursuit of the second horn of this confusion, the state department got itself involved in policies so erroneous, so illogical, so nugatory of American tradition, that it has become politically difficult to find a formula for extrication and correction.

The Russians know all this. The Russian government has known about this longer and more accurately than have the American people, for since 1934, when Harold Ware, an American agent was organized, American agents of Soviet Russia have infiltrated the state department. Appearances of this infiltration were made during the first Alger Hiss trial. It is being continued in the second Alger Hiss trial at which his lawyer is seeking to shift the crime from Hiss to Henry Julian Wadleigh, which would not lessen the stench in that department.

It was particularly in the China policy of the United States that Soviet Russia was interested, and the far eastern division of the spies, at the courts and the congressional committees are indicating. At any rate, the state department changed its far eastern policy, after such old-timers, as Dr. Stanley Hornback, were kicked out.

Into their places came a group of men who favored a pro-Russian and adopted an anti-Chinese policy. At the head, at first, was John Carter Vincent, who had had a long career in China. After he had been made minister to Switzerland in 1947, his place was taken by W. Walton Butterworth whose experience in China has been negligible. His first contact with China was January 2, 1946, when he was made counselor of our embassy at Chungking, but by September 15, 1947, he was at the head of the office of far eastern affairs—A very rapid rise in the face of the existence of men in the state department of very wide experience.

For instance, compare Butterworth's career with that of Joseph E. Jacobs, who presided over a Chinese court when I was in that country. He entered our foreign service on November 5, 1915, as a student interpreter in China. From 1918 to 1925, he served as a judge in the mixed court. The language of which is several dialects of Chinese. He served in consulates in Foochow, Shanghai, Yunnanfu. He was chief of the office of Philippine affairs in the state department. What do you suppose he is doing now? He is our representative in Czechoslovakia and he has been looking after our interests in Albania.

I picked Jacobs because his name came to me. I might have picked a dozen of our far eastern experts who are scattered over Europe while men with no knowledge, training or experience in far eastern affairs—or very little—are making American policy.

The result is our complete debacle in China, the conquest of that country by Soviet Russia, and the policy of humiliation and umbrage which the Chinese Communists are practicing against us. The arrest of Angus Ward and William N. Stokes, our consular officers in Mukden, is now obviously due to a desire to make the United States "lose face" not in China but throughout Asia. The object is to show that this country amounts to nothing, that it defends neither its honor, its prestige, nor its sons who represent it abroad. It is a good propaganda for the Russians, who would kill anyone who threw a spitball at Joe Stalin's picture.

So we have that kind of peace and it is slowly adding up to war. For if the Russians continue to shame us, there will finally be an explosion of shame in this country which no politician could quiet. There is danger in that.

Diet and Health Physical Fitness First for Flying

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IN our air-minded age, with rapidly increasing numbers of people traveling by air, a good many problems arise concerning physical fitness for flying.

This is especially true of travel at high altitudes because the difference in the oxygen content of the air at such heights and the lessening of air pressure have definite effects on the body.

Air sickness is always possible at any level, but it scarcely constitutes a real problem these days since we have several drugs to relieve it. One known as hyoscine hydrobromide has proved quite helpful. Another known as Dramamine is more efficient.

Simple Precautions

A number of factors may make it more likely that air sickness will occur, but these may be warded off by simple precautions.

It is advisable to have enough rest prior to the flight, to take a light meal about an hour before the journey, and to make sure that constipation is not present. Food eaten during the travel should be light and easily digested.

Those who are likely to develop air sickness should dress warmly, and may protect the ears against noise by cotton plugs. Keeping the head tilted back during flight also is helpful.

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Children and babies seem to travel quite comfortably by air. It is suggested that the mother feed the infant during descent; older children should be given candy or gum to chew, which will keep the eustachian tubes open. The eustachian tubes lead from the throat to the ears. Crying also will relieve pressure in the ears.

Severe Anemia

People who have infections of the nose, throat, or middle ear should not fly. Persons with severe anemia, heart disease, or high blood pressure, as well as elderly persons, or those who have active ulcers of the stomach or bowel, should also avoid air travel.

In fact, any person who has a severe physical ailment should have a careful study made by his physician before undertaking an air trip so that the doctor may decide in each case whether or not it is safe.

By observing these few simple precautions, it not only will be possible to make air travel safer but also to make it more comfortable and enjoyable.

An operation probably could be carried out to cure this disorder. A plastic surgeon should be consulted.

Longer Life Foreseen For Atomic Age

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—David E. Lillenthal says atomic developments of the next ten years can mean as much as a century of the past in improving health, long life and food production.

Lillenthal, who is retiring as chairman of the atomic energy commission, gave his views in an interview copyrighted by U. S. News & World Report weekly news magazine, he said:

"I would say within a decade, if we have made headway on our chief problem — the problem of peace — we can look back on this decade as having a profound effect on health and the lengthening of life.

"I should think that such a decade could mean as much as a century of some earlier period in the development of longevity and health, and in improvement of food production.

"These atomic materials — these radioactive tracers or isotopes — are so cheap and so inexpensive and so easy to have and can now be made in such quantities that it is not unreasonable to expect in a short time they will even be part of the training of high school students."

Lillenthal also estimated that

Mrs. Lowell E. Burnelle Speaks On Approved Schools At Regular DAR Meeting

Always a gracious hostess, Mrs. C. D. Young welcomed the members of Washington Court House Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, to her lovely home for their December meeting, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. John M. Weade, regent, opened the meeting with the customary ritual and Mrs. D. H. Rowe, chaplain, conducted the devotions. A new member, Mrs. Frank Reichelderfer, was welcomed into the chapter. Mrs. Reichelderfer was admitted by transfer from the Circleville Chapter.

The regent, Mrs. Weade, spoke of the candy which is being sold by the chapter. Two cases have been sold and fourteen cases were for delivery to those whose orders were on hand.

A letter of good wishes to the National Vice President General Mrs. James B. Patton, candidate for the high office of National President General, has been sent from the Washington C. H. Chapter to Mrs. John S. Heaume, campaign manager, and will be incorporated in a book as a Christmas gift to Mrs. Patton.

Miss Fannie McLean, treasurer, requests that all dues be in before January 1 so that this chapter will again be on the honor roll at the state conference.

At this time, Mrs. Weade introduced the guest speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Lowell E. Burnelle, of Gloucester, state chairman of DAR Approved Schools. Mrs. Burnelle is an entertaining and witty speaker who feels that "schoolhouses are the Republican line of fortification."

This year, Mrs. Burnelle believes that Ohio DAR should concentrate on Tammassie, a boarding school for children from six to nineteen years of age, and Kate Duncan Smith School, in Alabama, which is a day school. Kate Duncan Smith also serves as a community center for the 100 square miles of surrounding country. They have twelve grades. Some of their present needs are salad forks, fencing, fire hose, pencils and tablets, and any kindergarten supplies.

Following Mrs. Burnelle's informative talk, Mr. Hal Summers sang three mountain ballads, "Life Is The Color," "Going" and "Poor Way Farin' Stranger." Mr. Summers has a pleasing baritone voice and his selections were much appreciated. All present then sang with Mr. Summers the well known Christmas song "Silent Night." Miss Charlene Mark then read the President General's Christmas message.

Mrs. Weade spoke of her recent visit to Waldschmidt House and then closed the meeting by wishing one and all a very "Happy Christmas."

A very brief board meeting followed and after that the December hostesses served a delicious dessert course which carried out the Christmas theme.

Those assisting Mrs. Young as hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Andra C. Henkle, Mrs. Cary D. Phillips, Mrs. Wash Lough, Mrs. Gilbert G. Adams, Mrs. Louis N. Baer, Mrs. Leland Stevens, Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, Miss Emma Gallagher, Mrs. Troy T. Junk and Mrs. Robert Jefferson.

Guests attending the meeting included Mrs. Burnelle, her aunt, Mrs. Fannie Richards, of Gloucester, Mrs. Clarence Creath of Mt. Sterling, Mrs. Brooks Trubone, of this city and Mrs. Robert Harper Green, formerly of Tucson, Arizona, now making her home in this city.

Mrs. Lydia Imler returned Monday to her home in Circleville after spending the past month as the guest of her daughter Mrs. Dana Kellenberger, Mr. Kellenberger and family.

Mrs. Edward Stack, who was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cagle for the past few days left Sunday for her home in Clermont, Florida, she was accompanied by her mother Mrs. Lena Cook who will spend the winter months as the guest of the Stacks.

Couple Married November 22

S-2c and Mrs. Richard Bonner

Mrs. Bonner, the former Phyllis Dill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dill, of Jeffersonville, and S-2c Richard Bonner, son of Mr. Gus Bonner and Mrs. Hazel Bonner of this city, were united in marriage on November 22 in an informal ceremony performed in the Methodist Church in Lexington, Kentucky, with Rev. J. Ralph Wood officiating. Seaman Bonner has returned to his ship the USS Robert H. McCarl, stationed at Boston, Mass., on November 28 and his bride will continue in her secretarial position at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton.

Little Girl Is Honor Guest At Birthday Party

Mrs. Milton Dodds entertained a group of small children on Saturday afternoon honoring her daughter Carolyn Sue, on her fourth birthday anniversary. Colorful balloons, were given the children as favors, and provided amusement with other juvenile games. Later Carolyn Sue opened her gifts and responded sweetly and the little tots were seated at one table, centered with a decorated birthday cake topped with four candles for the serving of their favorite refreshments, ice cream and cake. Additional favors found at each place were miniature clothespins and clotheslines for the girls and trucks for the boys. Mrs. James Blair of Leesburg and Mrs. Albert Warner of this city grandmothers of the small honor guest assisted Mrs. Dodds.

WCS Church Day Has Been Planned

The regular WCS Church Day at Grace Methodist Church will convene on Wednesday, December 7, at 1:30 P. M.

Mrs. Darrell Weinrich, president, will preside over the meeting, and Mrs. Stephen Brown is to be the devotional leader.

The elaborate program, built around the topic "Christmas Through Pictures", planned and directed by Mrs. John E. Rhoads, is as follows:

Prelude, Mrs. Jack White; Devotionals, Mrs. Charles McCoy; Madonna of the Chair, Antonio

Allegri; Virgin Adoring the Child, Antonio Allegri; Flight into Egypt, Adolphe Bouguereau; Sorrowful Mother, Gabriel von Max; Madonna of Holy Light, Sybil Barham; Legend of the Christmas Rose, Alfred Hitchens; Madonna of Moon Gate, Luke Chen; Madonna of prayer, Nell Walker Warner.

Paintings are to be posed by various young women. Christmas carols of the different nations represented by the artists are to be interspersed. The narrator, describing the pictures, will be Mrs. Rhoads.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Paul and daughter Sue motored to Tipp City Monday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Paul's aunt Mrs. Ada Woodward Ritter.

Mrs. Donald Brandenburg returned Monday from Detroit,

Mrs. D. R. Murdock Guest Speaker At Sorority Meeting

Ohio Zeta Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held its regular meeting Monday evening at the Eagles Hall. The business meeting was opened in ritualistic form and conducted by Mrs. John Rhoads who read an impressive Christmas poem. During the business meeting Mrs. Charles Spetnagel was appointed parliamentarian. Miss Patti Maddux was added to the social committee and Mrs. William Allen was appointed to the Program Committee. The chapter's Christmas party and gift exchange is planned for December 19, at which time food, clothing and gifts will be contributed by each member to make up the Christmas basket to be given to the chapter's "adopted family". A motion was passed by the chapter to make a contribution to the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The highlight of the holiday season will be the annual Christmas party to be given the needy children of the community on December 22. Mrs. Frank Hook is in charge of the arrangements for this party and will be assisted by Mrs. Victor Bandy, Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. Lee Alderman and Mrs. Joe F. Loudner.

The members voted to forego the usual Christmas party for their own children in order to make the underprivileged children's party a bigger and better one.

Final plans for this event will be announced later in the week. The topic for the cultural program was "Nature's Landscape" and was well presented by Mrs. D. R. Murdock, guest speaker, who related her childhood experiences in Nova Scotia. Mrs. Murdock vividly described the birds, animals, lakes and forests of that Michigan where she was the weekend guest of her brother Mr. Bruce H. Devins, Mrs. Devins and their small son, Donald Allen. Mrs. Brandenburg went especially to attend the christening service of little Donald Allen on Sunday.

MARION MOTHER LOST 45 LBS. WITH RENNEL

"Rennel has done wonders for me," writes Mrs. Roy Stapleton, 378 Avondale Ave., Marion, Ohio. "Since taking Rennel I have lost 45 lbs. in a little over four months. My dress size has changed from 48 to 20. I am 27 years of age, and the mother of four children. That means a lot of walking to watch the children, which was tedious work. But not any more, for I am lighter on my feet and feel fine."

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

evening and was assisted in the hospitalities by Mrs. Frakk Baker, Mrs. Robert Minshall and Mrs. Harold Friend. The business session was presided over by the president Miss Clara Story during which a lengthy discussion was held on the State Phi Beta Psi Convention which will be held in this city in the coming spring. Miss Story appointed as the committees to work on plans, state representatives Mrs. Charles Hire and Mrs. Robert P. Wilson secretary.

Wartime Record Hampers Reds

Italian Hearings Progress Slowly

BY PHILIP CLARKE
ROME —(AP)—Communist underground veterans wish people would stop poking into their wartime affairs.

They are hopping mad over the reopening of some bloody episodes in the trigger-happy closing days of the last war.

One of the strangest such postscripts to the war is being written in a Rome civil court. A Communist deputy and five other underground leaders are charged with the "illegitimate" ambush of a Nazi SS column in downtown Rome March 23, 1944.

Thirty-two Nazis were killed. Adolph Hitler was so enraged that he ordered the ten-for-one reprisal execution of 320 innocent hostages by grim accident, an extra 15 were included among the victims of the famed ardeatine caves massacre.

Now, more than five years, later, families of ten of the victims are suing for damages. They charge that ambush of the SS column in the occupied "open city" of Rome violated the conventions of war.

They also point out that just two months before the ambush, German occupation authorities had warned that the killing of any German soldier would bring ten-for-one reprisals.

Communist Deputy Giorgio Amendola, pro-Communist Socialist Senator Sandro Pertini and other authors of the ambush claim it was a legitimate act of war. They display gold medals they say were awarded for this and other "acts of heroism" against the Nazis and Fascists.

Hearings are slow. Hearings began last summer but have dragged on without much action. Next court sessions are scheduled for January 10, 1950.

Another and possibly more sensational trial also is scheduled to open January 10 at Como in Northern Italy. Former Communist Deputy Dante Gorreri and 29 other wartime partisan leaders will go on trial there charged with complicity in the theft of Mussolini's treasure.

This case dates back to April 28, 1945, the fateful day partisans surprised a fleeing German convoy at Dongo on the shores of Lake Como. Mussolini and his mistress, Clara Petacci, were huddled in one of the vehicles bound for Switzerland.

The partisans shot them, carried their riddled bodies into Milan and strung them up by feet in a Milan gasoline station.

But a huge treasure of gold bars, jewelry and currency Mussolini was trying to slip out of Italy disappeared. Communist Party Vice Secretary Luigi Longo, an underground leader, said the partisans took enough of the treasure to feed, clothe and pay their ragged troops. He simply had no idea, he said what happened to the rest.

Anti-Communists charged that a sizeable chunk of the treasure, referred to now as the "gold of Dongo," was used to finance building of the Communist party's headquarters in Rome. They also alleged that Communist partisans killed six persons who knew the secrets of the missing treasure.

Dying Confession
The dying confession of an ex-SS officer at Munich last June was supposed to have revealed the spot where part of the treasure was buried by German troops accompanying Mussolini's ill-fated escape party. Police dug along the shores of Lake Como but found nothing.

The government, however, thinks it has enough evidence now to solve the four-year-old mystery. Several former Communist partisans have been tried recently for crimes and atrocities allegedly committed in the hectic final days of the war.

The charges range from robbery to mass murder. Government prosecutors have sought to prove that some leftist partisans indiscriminately slaughtered hundreds of civilians after the withdrawal and retreat of German troops.

Communist leaders in parliament angrily accuse the government of persecuting partisan veterans. Noisy protest demonstrations have been organized in many parts of the country.

But the government replies truth will out and justice must be done.

James Clinton Caplinger, Highland, who became disorderly while intoxicated, and resisted when two policemen showed up to take him into custody, drew $75 and costs and 30 days in the Cincinnati Workhouse when he faced Justice R. H. Sites, in police court, Monday.

On a charge of resisting an officer, Caplinger drew $50 and costs, and on the drunk and disorderly charge he was fined $25 and costs and given 30 days in the Cincinnati Workhouse.

Dog Tags Same As In Past Year

Dog license in Fayette County remain unchanged for the coming year, it has been decided by the county commissioners.

The rates are: Male dogs and spayed females $1.25; unspayed females $3.50 and kennels $12.50.

The first tag for 1950 went to Kenneth Arnold, 305 Sixth Street, for a three-year-old dog listed as a mixed breed.

The 1950 tags must be obtained by January 20, to avoid penalty under the state law.

Buy Safe Toys For Youngsters

Safety Measure Is Urged By Expert

Many of the Christmas shoppers crowding the stores are going to purchase toys and their purchases may have an important bearing on child accidents for the next year, in the opinion of J. C. Hiestand, president of the Ohio State Safety Council.

"Everyone wants his gifts to bring pleasure and happiness to children. Yet, unless toys are carefully chosen, some youth will be injured by the plaything. There's such an endless variety displayed this year that harmless items can be selected for the small fry," Hiestand said.

Small toys or small removable parts, may find their way into the child's windpipe, resulting in a quick trip to the hospital. Flammable toys and those with sharp edges are especially dangerous. Painted objects may be chewed, with stomach upsets following.

"All playthings for those under three years old should be durable and soft or with well rounded edges. Keep them small light for easy handling. Toys that can be pulled or pushed are always welcomed. These should be well made so they will not splinter," Hiestand said.

Students Hear Federal Agent

Social Security Is Topic of Lectures

Pupils in county schools are getting some first hand information about the story behind the Social Security card that they probably will be carrying around with them later on in life.

Providing the information is Joseph Etienne (pronounced like saying the two letters hn) of the Federal Security Agency in Columbus.

Tuesday morning and afternoon, he spoke to civics and history classes in the seventh through twelfth grades at the Madison Mills and Bloomingburg schools.

He will reach the Jeffersonville and Good Hope schools next Monday.

In his talks, Etienne relates the history of the adoption of Social Security legislation and explains some of the mechanics of its operation today.

In this latter category, he covers everything from who pays for to who gets Social Security benefits.

He also tells the pupils how to go about obtaining the Social Security card when they come of age.

Authorized by the county superintendent's office to lecture in schools here, Etienne also presents his material at schools in other counties in central Ohio.

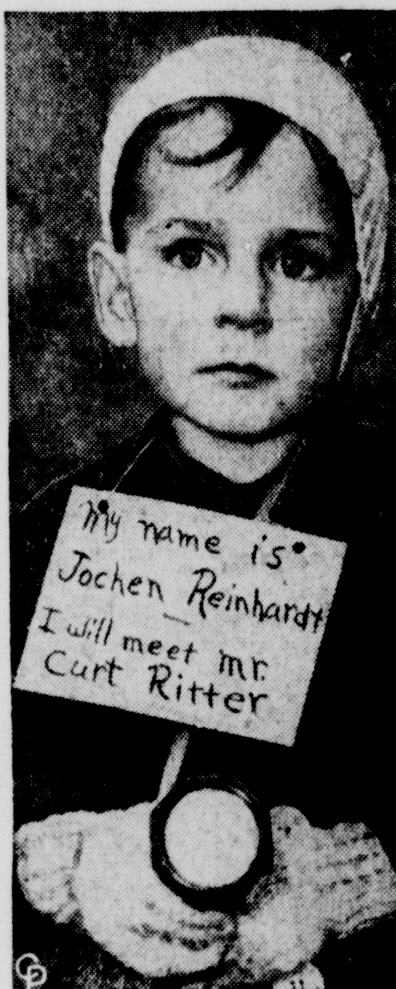

County Auditor At State Meeting

County Auditor Ulric Acton, is in Columbus to attend the annual convention of the Ohio County Auditor's Association, of which he is the treasurer.

The meeting will last most of the week. Acton went up Monday to attend a caucus Monday night. The sessions are being held at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel, and a number of prominent speakers are on the program for the various sessions.

A record 175 players participated in the 37th annual Southwestern tennis championship played at the University of Arizona recently.

Peace, At Last, With Japan? Occupation Now in Fifth Year

By ALBERT C. WITZIG
Central Press Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The ground-work is now being laid for the presentation of a formal treaty of peace to the Japanese. The occupation, now in its fifth year, has been one of the most remarkable in history.

There has been very little open hostility toward the conquerors. On the contrary, there seems to be a reluctance on the part of most Japanese, to see the occupation come to an end.

To complete the paradox, it seems that the victors are going to have more problems to solve than the vanquished. In the first place they are going to have to decide who is going to formulate the terms.

While the war against the Japanese and the occupation of the islands was largely an American project, the Australians, Chinese, Dutch, British and Russians also shared.

However, since the surrender, the new Communist China has appeared, the Dutch have granted autonomy to the Indonesians and the Russians have become unfriendly. Should Indonesia be represented by the Dutch or the Indonesians? Should Chiang Kai-shek represent China?

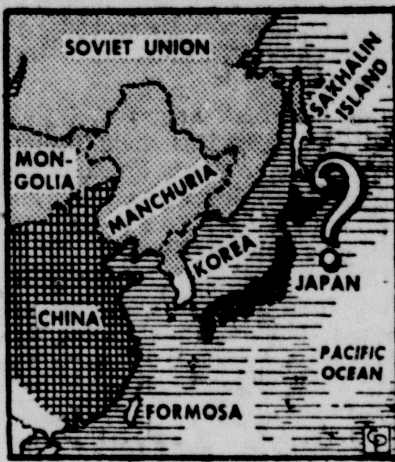

These questions will have to be answered if the treaty is to be considered a pact between the Allies and the Japanese. The only alternative is to make it a Japanese-American treaty and risk the loss of all of our Pacific friends.

THE DISPOSITION of conquered territory, usually the stumbling block of treaty writing, has already been solved. The Russians hold Sakhalin Island, northern Korea and Manchuria; the United States and Australia control the former mandates while Formosa has become the last stronghold of Nationalist China.

South Korea has a government of its own. No nation is going to be pried loose from its holdings so the signatories will merely recognize the de facto changes which have already taken place.

The signing of the treaty will be the recognition that the new Japanese nation is a sovereign power. Presumably that would mean the end of Allied dictation in internal affairs.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters has banned certain Japanese from holding office and has discouraged Japanese press criticism of Allied policies. However, as soon as restraints are removed, you can be sure that there will be blasts from some quarters. Many Japanese fear the results.

Communists are in the minority in Japan, just as they are in Russia and the other Sovietized countries—but they are extremely vocal.

THE JAPANESE PEOPLE are undergoing a great social and economic upheaval. They are poorly fed, poorly housed and largely unemployed. Their country lies in close proximity to Communist China and Siberia. They have all the ills upon which Communism thrives.

Under the terms of surrender and the new Japanese constitution, Japan has agreed never to support an army or navy. That makes it imperative that some protection be afforded her by her conquerors. It is reported that Japan will be given her choice of several plans.

One calls for her to enter the United Nations (if the Russians don't veto the idea) and have that body guarantee her borders. Another plan calls for the leasing of several military bases to the United States. Until words become as effective as guns, the second plan is the only feasible solution.

The peril, then, would be not to the Japanese but to the Americans. Having small detachments of troops in a country where the troops' own government would have no control of the natives, who would be, in turn, surrounded by hostile neighbors, could create a situation comparable to sitting on a seething volcano.

And don't forget, treaties have to be ratified by two-thirds of the Senate.

Preparing For Great Flood of Package Mail

"Spread it Out" is Admonition Given By Postmaster

The greatest flood of parcel post in post office history is expected this year.

"If it all comes in together, at the last minute, we'll be swamped," declares Postmaster W. E. Passmore. "Christmas gift packages should be in the mail by December 10 at the very latest."

In addition to Yule packages, the post office will be jammed with commercial shipments.

The postmaster reports that post office windows are most crowded at lunch time. He advises mailing packages before 10 A. M. and between 1:30 and 3:30 P. M. to avoid long lines and aching feet.

"It would help greatly," he declares, "if people would decide exactly what they want before they approach the windows—how much insurance on a package, whether they want it registered, and how many stamps they need."

"Remember that parcels may not be sealed unless they bear a printed label authorizing opening for postal inspection if necessary. Use corrugated cardboard, heavy outer paper, and strong cord in wrapping. The post office has to move millions of packages within the next few weeks, and they should be able to withstand normally vigorous handling."

Postmaster Passmore is asking householders to make sure their house numbers are clearly visible from the street, and that their names appear on their post boxes, as an aid to emergency carriers unfamiliar with the routes.

Including zone numbers in addresses greatly facilitates handling, the postmaster emphasizes Christmas cards for out-of-state delivery should be deposited by Dec. 15, and greetings for local delivery at least a week before Christmas.

Midget's Bathtub Too Small--Plumb Woman Gets Stuck

COUNCIL BLUFFS Ia., Dec. 6—(AP)—Marie Turnquist was sure today the Lord has answered her prayers despite the fact she hadn't consulted Him before getting herself into a mighty tight spot.

Last Wednesday while occupying the home of an absent friend who is a midget, Mrs. Turnquist, who is about 65, got into the tiny bathtub measuring 36 by 19 by 19 inches. It held her fast for 60 hours before friends missed her and investigated.

"I just kept praying to get out," Mrs. Turnquist said. "I said 'Lord, why don't you answer? You have always answered my prayers before.'"

"After a while I thought that was kind of bad so I said, 'Well, Lord, I didn't ask you about getting into this little dinky tub, so why should you answer?"

Car Price Cuts Not To Be Big

Hudson Cracks Down With Its New Model

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Prices continue a top subject of interest in automobile quarters but generally lower levels are not in immediate prospect.

Pontiac cut $250 from the price of its station wagons and shave $25 from the price of its hydraulic transmission in introducing 1950 models today. A like cut on the hydraulic also has been announced by Oldsmobile, which pioneered it 10 years ago. However, there were no price cuts on other Pontiac models or any of the Oldsmobile cars.

The new 1950 model Mercury, to make its public debut next Tuesday, is not expected to show any price changes.

The cut on hydraulic transmissions brings the price down to $158.50. The new list prices for Pontiac station wagons are $2,280 the deluxe six and eight cylinder models have a factory tag of $2,359 and $2,427 respectively.

Hudson Cracks Line

The industry's whole price picture came in for renewed interest as Hudson introduced its new lower-priced pace-maker models. The new vehicles carry tags of $1,675 for the three-passenger coupe and $1,795 for the four-door sedan. Of course, these are factory prices and do not include extras, transportation charges or state and local taxes.

The new price tags put the pace-maker in competition with cars like Pontiac's streamliner, Dodge's wayfarer and Studebaker's champion models. These prices are all generally higher than most of the Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth listings.

Advertised delivered prices of the Pontiac six at the factory

DEMANDING $16,500 reward from the state for turning over to the police her husband's statement, in which he confessed three murders, Mrs. Franklin Click is shown at her home in Fort Wayne, Ind., with two of her five children; Christine, 5 months, and Linda, 2. Her husband, Frank, has been sentenced to die in the electric chair. (International) range from $1,689 for the streamliner sedan coupe to $1,740 for the four door sedan in the same model.

The Dodge wayfarer series factory prices range from $1,628.75 for a business coupe to $1,755 for a two-door sedan.

The Studebaker champion deluxe model prices range from $1,585.25 at the factory for a business coupe to $1,688.50 for a four-door sedan.

Nash, reportedly with a new lower and slightly smaller model in prospect, has given no indication of what price tag will go on it. Only Kaiser-Frazer has flatly asserted its new low priced model will compete in the Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth price field.

Big Promotion Job

A lot of sales effort and a lot of promotion are required to take any business away from Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth. Considerable price shaving all down the line also is required.

The lowest price two-door sedan in the Chevrolet group is $1,413; the comparable type of Ford costs $1,425 and the Plymouth of the same type $1,507. All three of these major producers also have business coupes at even lower list prices.

The Chevrolet in this model has a factory tag of $1,339; Ford $1,333 and Plymouth $1,385.75.

So if any car companies have hopes of competing with these car makers they have a tough job ahead. It takes a heavy volume of output to hold to lower prices in the nation's motorcar market. Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth have accounted for almost half of the slightly more than 4,750,000 passenger cars built in the United States so far this year.

Big Gifts to College

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Youngstown College announced today the largest cash gifts it has ever received, totaling $375,000. One gift for $225,000 came from an anonymous donor. Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. gave $150,000. The money is for a proposed $750,000 fund for a new library.

Political Pot Boiling in Ohio

Veteran Campaigners Back With New Ones

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Ohio's political pot is boiling even aside from the sizzling U. S. senatorial contest. There is only slightly more than two months remaining before the deadline for the declarations for the May primary.

On the Republican side the field is wide open, except for the two positions on the Supreme Court and Sen. Robert A. Taft's bid for reelection. The state treasury position is wide open for the Democrats inasmuch as the incumbent Don H. Ebright is out for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

It looks as though most of the perennial also-rans are bickering to get into the race which looks the most likely to offer some chance of success.

Charles H. "Timeclock" Hubbell, of Cleveland, who has sought Democratic recognition for most every state office was here this week looking over the situation. In past elections he has been the Democratic nominee for supreme court judge and may choose that office again.

Hebert Hoover, who once was the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, also is looking over the field. He was a caller at the secretary of state's office this week, but was not yet ready to make known his intentions.

James H. Sullivan, of Cincinnati, who has sought the Democratic nomination for secretary of state in the past, is an avowed candidate for treasurer. He was the runner-up to Secretary Charles F. Sweeney in the last primary.

GOP Fair Haired Boy
Kenneth C. Ray, of McConnellsville, may be the fair-haired boy for the Republican treasury nomination. He was U. S. Senator John W. Bricker's director of education when Bricker was governor and it appears likely Bricker's followers will be out plugging for him. He previously has served as a member of the state house of representatives.

Mayor Edwin E. Morgan of Oxford is flirting with a candidacy for the treasury job. Joseph Torok, of Youngstown, former grocer reports he is busy obtaining signatures for his declaration of candidacy against Gov. Frank J. Lausche. He is circulating his own petitions. He says he is gathering data on "what people think" of both Governor Lausche and Senator Taft and will release it after the February filing dates.

Former State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley, who has taken out petitions to oppose Governor Lausche, has announced he is considering being a gubernatorial candidate, but has not yet made an official announcement.

Former Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins has decided he would stay out of politics and devote his time to practicing law. C. William O'Neill or Marietta immediately threw his hat into the ring for the Republican nomination for the attorney general nomination.

O'Neill, a former speaker of the house currently is the minority leader in that branch of the assembly.

Duffey in Race Again
Democrat Attorney Gen. Herbert S. Duffey this week formally announced his candidacy for reelection. He previously had served one term in that office during the administration of former Gov. Martin L. Davey.

The two Republican supreme court judges whose terms expire in January 1951 announced for renomination. They are Edward S. Matthias, of Van Wert, and William L. Hart, of Alliance. Matthias now is serving his sixth consecutive term and Hart his second.

A report was current late this week that a high ranking Democratic national leader will pay

Ohio a visit next week in an effort to untangle the present U. S. senatorial situation. The report connected this representative with an effort to clear the field for Murray D. Lincoln.

But such a visit for that purpose probably would be futile, for State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, who insists he is the only Ohio Democrat who can defeat Sen. Robert A. Taft, is expected to formally announce his candidacy at a dinner given in his honor next Tuesday night by Franklin County Chairman Walter F. Heer. Once Ferguson gets formally into the race it is doubtful any persuasion from Washington would get him out.

Disgruntled Braves Likely To Be Traded

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6.—(P)—The spotlight was thrust squarely upon the Boston Braves today as the rest of the trade-minded National League Clubs waited to see what Manager Billy Southworth would do before making a move of their own.

The general feeling at this 48th Minor League Convention is that Southworth must dispose of at least three of his alleged "insurrectionists" before he resumes active control of the club on the field.

Those supposed to be in the know insist that second baseman Eddie Stanky and pitchers Johnny Sain and Bobby Hogue are certain to be traded. They would not be too surprised if Billy were to trade either southpaw ace Warren Spahn or righthander Vernon Bickford, both of whom are said to have voiced their displeasure against Southworth.

Elk Bowlers Hot In Fraternal Loop

The Elks had the range of the head pin in Monday night's Fraternal League bowling at Bowl-and, and that's for sure. With Big Bireley setting the pace by topping a total of 655 in three games, they piled up a team total of 2915 (without handicap) to blank the Sabina Moose. Bireley's 655 is the next to the highest of the season at Bowl-and. Tony Capuana previously had tallied 665. Max Lawrence has a series of 652.

The Universals came through with a three-game win over the Rotarians, but other two matches ended in split decisions.

The Mt. Sterling Boosters took the first and last games from the Country Clubbers and the Lions did the same in their match with the Record-Herald crew.

Wounded Waitkus Receives Award

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6.—(P)—Eddie Waitkus, Philadelphia Philly first baseman who was shot last season by a woman in Chicago, today was awarded the "Achievement Plaque" of the National Baseball Congress.

The award is for the outstanding major league player to graduate from the amateur diamonds of the Congress. The 1948 winner was Satchel Paige, the ageless Cleveland Indian hurler.

Waitkus was hitting .306 in 54 games when he was sidelined by a woman admirer who shot him in a Chicago hotel.

Keen Competition In Ladies League

Not a clean sweep was made in the four Ladies League matches rolled Monday night at Bowl-and.

Kirkpatrick's Fraternal Home girls were knocked off in their first and last games by the NCR quintet, but held the edge in the totals.

The girls from Funk's Restaurant in Jeffersonville counted 871 (120 handicap) in their second game — and that was the only one they won from the Montgomery Warders. They did take the long end of the 2443-2342 totals, however.

In another bang-up match the Loudners team won the last two games from the Candymakers.

Buck Cagers Win Over Marquette

Double Bill Won By Bowling Green

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(P)—Bowling Green isn't losing any time in trying to better its excellent basketball record of last season.

The Ohio quintet is taking on early-season opponents two at a clip. Last night the Falcons won their second doubleheader of the year, 73-41 over Gustavus Adolphus and 72-39 over Bluffton.

But Bowling Green has a real test coming up at Western Kentucky Thursday. The Hilltoppers stopped Kentucky Wesleyan last night, 89-45.

A Rose Bowl-bound football player helped out in Ohio State's 82-53 rout of Marquette. Dick Schnitker, a football end and sometime-basketball forward, dropped in 33 points to break his own Buckeye scoring mark of 32.

Louisville, usually one of the strong Kentucky fives, edged by Indiana State, 68-66.

Iowa posted its second straight win by banging in 42 points in the last half for a 73-53 rout of Michigan State. Gordon Stauffer of the Spartans took scoring honors with 17 points.

Northwestern grabbed its second win with a close 58-55 count over Ripon which rallied for 29 points in the last half. Jake Fendley guided the Wildcats with 25 points.

At Bloomington, Indiana opened its season with a 64-33 walloping of Wabash with Jerry Stuteville, Sam Miranda and Bill Garrett collaborating for 35 points.

Bill Willis' Hand Injured in Game

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6.—(P)—An X-ray picture revealed yesterday that guard Bill Willis of the Cleveland Browns has a partly broken bone in his right hand.

Willis hurt his hand in the game against the Buffalo Bills Sunday, and team physicians said last night they don't know whether he will be able to play against the San Francisco 49ers for the league title next Sunday.

Cub Cagers Get Ready For 10-Game Schedule

Four dozen boys — 48 of 'em — today were giving everything they have with hopes of making the Lion Cub cage squad for this season.

Half of the boys are from the eighth grade and other half from the seventh — the junior high school.

When Fred Pierson, the headman of WHS football, called for volunteers for the Cub cage crew, the gymnasium in the high school was overrun with enthusiastic and ambitious youngsters.

There were so many recruits, in fact, that he had to take them one grade at a time — the eighth graders the first evening and the seventh graders the second.

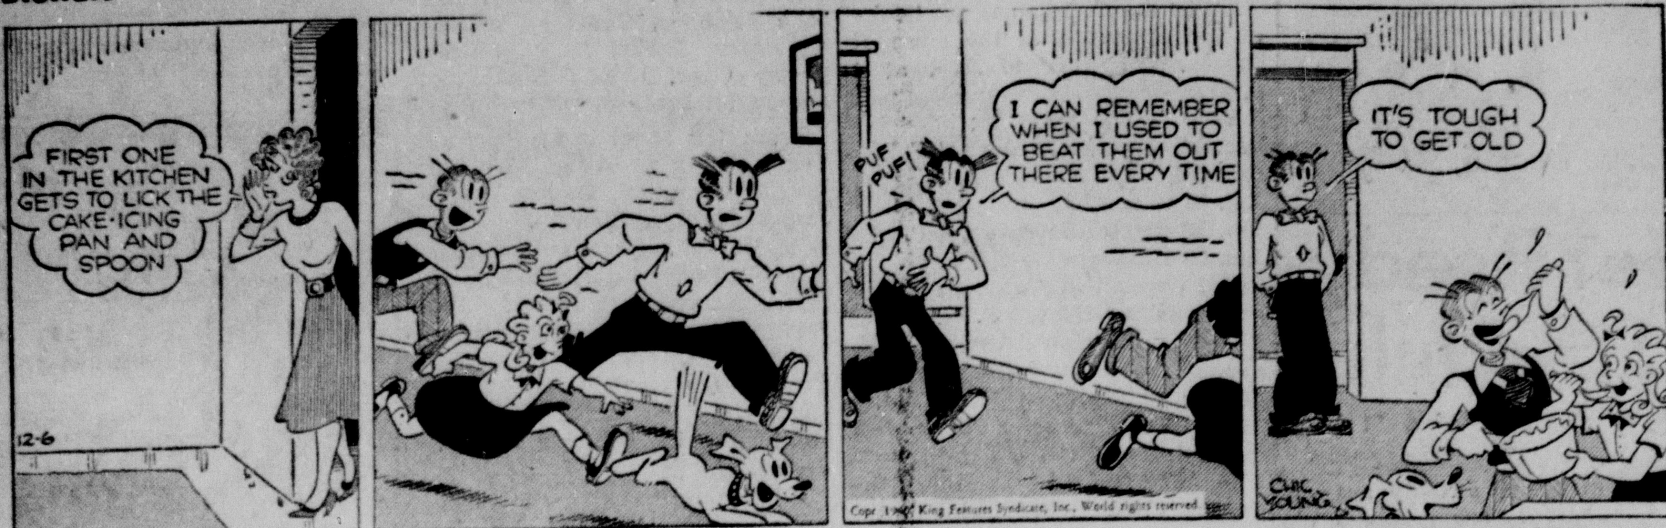

They all are to be given their chance to show what they have, Pierson said. Then, before very long, the cream is to be skimmed off and the Cub squad formed.

Most of the candidates have had considerable experience in the serious competition in the elementary school league.

The next step up is to the reserve squad and then the varsity, the goal of every basketball-minded boy here.

Making the Cub squad is no empty honor by a long shot. The Cubs have a 10-game schedule already lined up with surrounding junior high schools. The first

KINGSBRIDGE

SYNOPSIS
Aristocratic old Judge King and his wife, Elizabeth, are welcoming home from abroad their son-in-law Major Frank King. A gay party is in progress at Kingsbridge, their home. Only the "best" people are present. Elizabeth has seen to that.

CHAPTER TWO
ELIZABETH moved slowly across the carpet, liking the feel of its thickness beneath her feet, liking its wine color, at once rich-looking and practical. Wine-colored gold draperies and pale blue-green walls. The decorator had been right but it had sounded horrible to her at first. Liking the hum of talk, the small bursts of laughter, the strains of music that came floating in from the big hall—all the well-bred sounds of revelry.

A quick-moving, stalwart young man with a cowlick above his right temple dodged around a knot of people and nearly catapulted into her.

"Mrs. King, I beg your pardon!" Timothy Grant, Susan's most faithful admirer. He had gone through college in three years and then had taken the Army Officers Training course. But she had ended before he saw service and now he was with International Mechanical Bureau. A nice lad with his steady eyes and level head and good smile. It was too bad that in her granddaughter's eyes, niceness was not necessarily an asset. Something of a problem—Susan. Something of an iconoclast. Something of her mother, Audrey.

"It's a good party!" Timothy said with enthusiasm as he passed. She nodded absently, the irritation that thoughts of her daughter invariably brought, rising to the surface of her mind. They had never got along well together. Never. Audrey had always had a detached, almost brazen way of belittling her mother. Even in her teens she... On! She hadn't exactly fought Elizabeth's authority. More precisely, she appraised and discarded it as of little or no value. Elizabeth simply hadn't mattered. Only Steven had been able to influence her, and not always he.

Well, anyway, they had got her safely married at last to Frank Park and no harm done. But it was Audrey, with her strange and opposing crop of ideas who had turned Elizabeth's hair gray. In fact, there might still be cause for worry. Sending Susan to that school! It was a good thing Frank was home again to keep his family in order—Audrey and the two children, Susan and Donald.

Donald! She called after Timothy in sudden recollection. "Has Donald come yet?"

She returned to her side. "I don't think so. But don't worry, Mrs. King. He's a good skier. And a good driver. He was probably just late getting away. Or he may have found the roads drifted over. Don't worry. He'll turn up pretty soon, I'm sure."

There was more than mere courteous concern in his reply. There was protection. Youth protecting the thoughtlessness of a contemporary? Or youth protecting Susan's grandmother? It might be both, but either way she warmed to him, and glancing up, she laid her hand on his arm and spoke impulsively.

"Thank you, I'm not really worrying, though. Donald seldom gives me any cause..." She broke off and his eyes followed hers to the corner where Susan was standing with two or three of her young friends. She wasn't being noisy. She wasn't even talking. She was simply standing there gracefully, a soft, slim figure in diaphanous white, the clouds of her shoulder-length black hair enhancing the creamy pallor of her skin, the scarlet of her mouth, the pansy-purple of her dark-fringed eyes. Yet in her silence in her very quiet, there was something alarming to Elizabeth. She looked more than merely aloof. She looked like one who was listening for something. Waiting and listening for an unguessed signal and when she heard it she would be off.

Sharply Elizabeth recalled herself from such an absurd fancy. Where in the world would the child be off to? What was bothering her were memories of Audrey who had been just like that at Susan's age. A puzzle, a worry, sometimes almost an alien in her attitude of remoteness and hostility to established standards. Yet, after all, Audrey had been rebellious only in her talk. Eventually she had settled down, and so would Susan for all the look of her at the moment. It was just a stage girls went through. Absorbed in her thoughts, she had forgotten Timothy who he spoke in her ear.

"Yes, I know," he said. "It's not Donald. It's Susan. But it doesn't do any good to worry about her." And the smile had left his countenance and there was a faint note of pain in his voice.

She took her hand from his arm with the quick surge of a small anger engendered by her pride of possession. No one should ever guess that a King entertained secret forebodings about any member of the family.

"Get along with you!" she exclaimed. "I don't worry about some of the younger generation's art students."

But, said Weng, "Cedric" was despondent, anyway. He had a full-blown case of neuroses caused by "a lack of doe," Weng added.

Divorce Cases Held Over For Yule Season
HAMILTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Butler County Common Pleas Judges P. P. Boli and Fred Cramer today declared their annual Christmas holiday suspension of the hearing of divorce cases.

For several years the two judges have declined to hear any divorce cases during the Christmas season. They said the suspension this year would extend from Dec. 11 to Jan. 6.

Pet Deer Dies Of Stomach Ulcers
DAYTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Too much art and too little doe caused the death of eight-year-old "Cedric," a pet deer at the Dayton Art Institute.

"Cedric" died of stomach ulcers. Institute Director Siegfried Weng said the ulcers were caused by the arsenic used in certain drawing paper. The paper, covered with drawings, was fed "Cedric" by

Big Crowd Turns Out For Kickoff Dinner Monday

Fayette Farm Bureau Outlines Membership Drive Plans in County

Nearly 100 Fayette Farm Bureau members laid plans Monday night at a membership roll meeting for a goal of 900 members for 1950.

Their plans were drafted at a kick-off dinner held at the First Christian Church in Washington C. H. The membership drive will be held this week.

Arthur Hoverland, Farm Bureau organization director for district seven, reported on the growth of the Farm Bureau and said the 1950 goal for Ohio had been set at 69,000 members.

Howard Hopkins, new Farm Bureau president, urged the Farm Bureau workers to get busy with their membership drive this week.

A turkey dinner, served by ladies of the First Christian Church, was one of the highlights of the meeting Monday night.

A report on the membership in the various townships last year was made. The new members added last year brought the total to 854, according to a report.

Workers and Guests Listed

Workers and guests present at the affair were as follows: Concord Township — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith, Stanley Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Percie Kennell, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooper, Miss Connie Pyle, Miss Joanne Craig, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Montgomery, Orrville Waddle, Dale Wilson, Ralph Nisley, Emerson Marting, Maurice Sollars, W. E. Sollars and Robert Case.

Wayne Township — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Milbourne Barney, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pope, Homer McCoy, Ralph Braden, Mr. and Mrs. William Dunn.

Jefferson Township — Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Owens, Ralph Davidson, John Carr, Leo Wilt, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Creamer, W. S. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Sim Simpson.

Paint Township — Mr. and Mrs. Eben Thomas, Frank Green, Charles B. Cook, and Cay Michael; Green Township, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Eakins, Delbert Morris and Chester Zimmerman.

Madison Township — Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilson, Leland Dorn, Fred LeBeau, Robert Alleman, Albert Schmidt and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hopkins; Jasper Township, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hiser, and Grant Morgan; Marion Township, Omar Rapp; Perry Township, Ervin Ritter and Grove Davis.

Union Township — Joe McFadden, Allen Sells, Beryl Cavine, Charles Van Pelt, Gerald Stephenson, Emmitt Shaper and George Pleasant.

Others present included Ben Glover, Boh Wehr, Fred Shoop, Art Herbolzheimer, Clifford Foster, Leland Stevens, Glenn Jett, Frank Boso, Harold Jenkins, Ben McQuintiff, Glendon Kelley, Bob Gorn, Earl Wilson, Hubert Morris and M. J. Smith.

Guests present included Albert Cobb and Mrs. Norma Campbell.

Funeral Services For A. L. Wallace

Funeral services for A. L. Wallace were held Monday at 2 P. M. at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home.

Rev. Allen M. Peterson, who was in charge of the services, read the 23rd Psalm and the two hymns, "We'll Never Grow Old" and "Does Jesus Care." There were many lovely floral gifts.

The pallbearers were Dale Poole, William Lucas, Earl Smith, H. L. Frederick, Austin Kelley and McKinley Kirk.

Burial was made in the family lot at Bloomingburg Cemetery.

County Courts

DIVORCE ASKED

Leota M. Johnson, a minor, in a petition for divorce from Paul E. Johnson, filed in common pleas court here, charges gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. The parties were married July 21, 1947, and have no children. Mrs. Johnson also asks to be restored to her maiden name of Leota M. Brown. Hill and Hill represent the plaintiff.

DIVORCE SOUGHT

Married July 15, 1932, and the mother of five children, Laura Downard has filed suit in common pleas court, asking for divorce from Charles Downard. She charges gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. In addition to asking for divorce, she also asks exclusive custody of the children and other relief. W. W. Hill represents the plaintiff.

WILL PROBATED

The will of Nellie V. Coughlin, has been admitted to probate. The instrument was executed December 4, 1946, and witnessed by N. P. Clyburn and W. A. Lovell.

The testator leaves to her sister, Elizabeth Coughlin, her interest in real estate on John Street and two thirds of the remainder of her estate. One third was left to her brother, James G. Coughlin, who was named executor.

County's Claim

For Bridge Damage To Be Settled Soon

Another step in clearing up Fayette County's claim for damages to the bridge over Deer Creek was taken Monday.

At their regular meeting, the county commissioners conferred with representatives of the parties involved in the damage done to the structure just north of Waterloo that was shaken by a dynamite blast set off nearby to clear a path for a pipeline being run through the county.

Present at the meeting were the write-away man for Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, which was laying the pipeline, the contractor hired by Texas Eastern for the job and County Engineer C. A. Ferguson.

At the meeting, the commissioners arranged to meet with the insurance company representing Texas Eastern by Thursday, December 15, in order to take final steps in settlement of Fayette County's $5,000 claim.

New Conservancy Directors Named

Howard F. Guthrie of Marion and John Dunlap, of Williamsport, are new directors of the Scioto - Sandusky Conservancy District, which includes Fayette County.

Judge H. M. Rankin attended the meeting, held in Columbus, and is a member of the district's court, which is made up of common pleas judges of the 17 counties in the district.

The two men replace the late E. F. Bearce, of Chillicothe, and A. S. Allman, of Tiffin, who resigned.

The judges reappointed Joseph Van Meter, of Waverly, to succeed himself as director.

Funeral Services Held for Infant

Funeral services for Charles Ernest Daugherty, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Cary Daugherty, were held Monday afternoon at the Sugar Grove Methodist Church on the Greenfield Road.

Rev. Guy E. Tucker offered prayer, read from the scriptures and delivered the sermon. He also read the 23rd Psalm.

The hymns "Safe In The Arms Of Jesus" and "When He Cometh" were sung by Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. Eldon Bethards and Mrs. George Pleasant accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Black at the piano.

Burial was made in the Bainbridge Cemetery.

Airman Badly Hurt in Wreck

Falls Asleep and Strikes Bridge

Falling asleep at the wheel of his Chevrolet auto, while returning to Wright Field from his home in Ashland, Ky., Staff Sergeant LeRoy McDowell, 21, was badly injured when his car crashed into the batter post of the steel bridge over Paint Creek, on the Chillicothe Road a mile south of Washington C. H.

McDowell's car first struck the guard rail on the north side of the road about 30 feet from the bridge as he was headed toward Washington C. H., and the car then followed the guard rail until it crashed into the batter post of the bridge, and was completely ruined.

The accident occurred at 4:15 A. M., and Sheriff Orland Hays investigated.

The Gerstner ambulance brought McDowell to the office of Dr. Clarence Hayes, where it was found that McDowell had sustained a double fracture of his right leg above the ankle; cuts and bruises and other injuries.

An ambulance from Wright Field removed McDowell to the military hospital at Patterson Field.

FB Council Hears Surplus Corn Report

Members of the Union Township Farm Bureau Council heard a report from the Commodity Credit Corporation that more than 200,000 bushels of corn have been stored through the CCC in Fayette County.

This information was disclosed by the Cooperative Committee of CCC at the last meeting of the Council at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Cavine.

It was pointed out that these figures do not include corn stored in elevators and other places in the county.

The committee also said that much wheat and soy beans are being stored in the county.

After a talk by Mrs. Herschel Frazier on "Keeping Alive Longer," the council members decided to go on record against socialized medicine and compulsory health insurance.

The members expressed the opinion that "by enforcing present legislation and giving support to the County Health program, the greater part of our health problems would be solved."

After the business session, which was conducted by chairman Lowell Kaufman, the members were served seasonal refreshments.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Frazier.

Three Are Taken To the Workhouse

Three men, sentenced to the Cincinnati Workhouse by Police Court Justice R. H. Sites, were taken to that institution Tuesday afternoon, in custody of Police Chief Vaiden LLong.

The three are: James Clinton Caplinger, Highland, for being drunk and disorderly and resisting arrest who was fined $92.40 and given 30 days in the work house.

Tom Evans, Bloomingburg, old offender, who sometime ago was fined $15 and costs and given 90 days in the workhouse, but released upon agreement to pay the fine within a few days.

Evans failed to show up, so he was rearrested and the workhouse term is to be served.

The third man was Darrell Mitchell who was fined $250 and given six months in the workhouse, and is to serve out the fine.

After sentence had been passed it was found that it was Mitchell's second offense. "Had I known that the fine would have been $500 and costs and six months," said Police Justice R. H. Sites.

Second Round of Fight in Jail

HILLSBORO, Dec. 6.—Dana D. Porter, 21, South Solon, and Richard R. Stoddard, 36, of Washington C. H., sent to the city jail after having engaged in a fight at Stanforth's Restaurant, renewed the fight in jail until police again intervened.

The two men appeared to be on good terms when placed in jail, following their first round, but 30 minutes later renewed their fight. Police said Stoddard knocked Porter down, cutting a gash over

New Sashes Bought By Pomona Grange

Pomona Grange members will wear their own sashes for the first time Thursday night.

Until now, the Grange members here have been wearing subordinate Grange sashes, but Thursday they will wear ones representing their own organization.

The occasion will be the regular meeting of the grange at the Farm Bureau Building, at which time a drawing for a turkey raffle will be held.

Tickets for the drawing have been sold to provide money for the purchase of the new sashes.

Harry Raines, new master of the Grange, urges that all members attend the meeting which will begin at 8 P. M.

Hobby Club Will Have Gift Exchange

A gift exchange will be one of the features of the Fayette County Hobby Club meeting to be held Friday at 7:30 P. M. in the council room of the city building. Gifts are limited to 25 cents in value.

In addition to a gift exchange, and coffee will also be served.

There will be the usual exhibit all members will take sandwiches, of unusual articles, and all members are asked to take some article.

Also members have been asked by President Lewis B. Rogers, to take something to sell or exchange. The business session will be first on the program at the meeting.

ACCOUNTING ASKED

XENIA.—A suit seeking an accounting from R. O. Wead, cashier of the Xenia National Bank and executor of the estate of George R. Kelly, valued at $354,000, has been filed by Mrs. George Kelly, widow.

Columbus Avenue Roof Fire Damage Is Light

City firemen answered a call at 619 Columbus Avenue about 11:50 o'clock this morning to put out a small shingle fire. The home, vacant at the time, was being prepared for a new tenant or tenants. A fire had apparently been started while workers burned some trash in the home. Sparks from a chimney are believed to have started the fire. Slight damage was caused to the roof.
